Children's Programming

Adopted: October 2006

Last Revision: -

The Board recognizes the need to protect both the children attending programs at the library and the adults who serve them. Toward that goal, the following requirements must be met in the presentation of children's programming.

Children attending programming must be registered on an annual basis. Registration ensures that contact information is readily available and current in the event of an emergency. Parents registering children for programming also agree to abide by the Unattended Children Policy.

For programming presented by library staff, another adult must be in the room at all times. The adult may be another library staff member or a volunteer.

For programming presented by those not employed by the library, a library staff member must be in the room at all times.
